Selection Process

The Challenge

Finding people with the right skill set, attitude and personality to fit both the position and the company culture

What causes it? First of all, it is hard. Second, it takes time. Everyone is busy and when you need people, you need them fast. Some rely on the “we’ll take a warm body” method, which can be limited to conducting an interview and maybe doing a background or reference check. This can result in hires that are not a good fit for the position or the company.

You know it when you see it: Statistically speaking, most companies have a 50/50 chance of selecting the right person in the right position to carry out the company’s mission, vision and values. Lost investments in training and management of poor performance cost time and money. Worse, poor performers have a negative impact on customer service and employee morale.

Assess your company...

- I am frustrated with the level of turnover and cost of losing employees in the first year.*
- It is too hard to find the right person for key positions.*

Selection Process

Recommendation

Add more selection “tools” to the process to increase your company’s success in selecting the right person.

We recommend implementing a multi-step selection process that includes the following steps:

- An initial phone screening
- Reference check
- Competency assessment
- Structured interview format that asks the critical questions to assess both competency and cultural fit
- Final filter or “gut-check” of whether the employee will fit into the culture and carry out the company’s values

- Reference check to learn of the job applicant's job history
- Competency assessment to measure the job applicant's potential
- Structured interview format that asks the critical questions to assess both competency and cultural fit
- Gut check or final filter of whether the job applicant will fit into the culture and carry out the company's values
